Metropolitan Board of Parks and Recreation
511 Oman Street
Nashville, TN 37203

Metro Parks Board Members:

Creative Parks Nashville requests the Park Board to accept an in-kind grant not to exceed $2,975.00 to fund the purchase and installation of a Historical Marker near the front of Metro Parks Centennial Art Center acknowledging the facility as the former swimming pool closed during desegregation. The funding is made possible by a generous gift from the Centennial Park Conservancy to partner with and support the project.

The wording for the Marker which is included in a supplemental attachment was approved by the Metro Historical Commission on November 15, 2021 in the Sonny West conference room at the Howard Office Building.

The Metro Historical Commission works with N-DOT (formerly Metro Public Works) to provide installation of marker.

This grant requires no match or other obligation of Metro and Parks. No money will be sent to Metro Parks. All projects will be paid for directly by Creative Parks Nashville.

We are in communication with Metro Parks staff on all proposed projects and will continue to work with them on the details of plans, materials, and schedule as the project moves forward.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best,

CAC Historical Marker 2021 grant

Centennial Park Swimming Pool

Opened in 1932, the pool served Nashville's white community as a premier swimming facility for nearly 30 years. City officials abruptly closed the pool in 1961 after two African American student civil rights activists, Kwame (Leo) Lillard and Matthew Walker Jr., led an effort to desegregate the facility. The city responded by closing all Nashville public pools, blaming the sweeping closures on budgetary concerns.

{photo} While many neighborhood pools eventually reopened in 1963 under the newly consolidated metropolitan government, this facility sat vacant for 10 years—to some, a daily reminder of the city's racial divide. The pool's bathhouse was renovated and reopened as Centennial Art Center on April 23, 1972. The former deep end of the swimming pool is preserved as a sunken lawn in the rear portion of the building's courtyard.
